Re: Central London bus services

I am writing further to the Labour Group submission on the proposed changes to Central London bus services. Whilst I have concerns about the plans in general, I would like to formally object to two specific route proposals, on the grounds below:

134 bus route – I do not support the route reduction to the 134 bus, from Tottenham Court Road to Euston. A shorter route here is detrimental to residents further away, especially in Finchley, in connecting them with more central London routes around Oxford Street and Tottenham Court Road.

271 bus route - There are no other night services on Highgate Hill, and therefore no night services coming into/returning from central London either for residents in this area if this service is cut.

I hope you will therefore reconsider your plans.

Yours sincerely,
