

What The Tech?!

Now a free befriending & tech support
phone service for older residents

We know these aren't easy times. But we want to be there for our local community any way we can.

What the Tech?! is our weekly drop-in for local older residents where volunteers from Imperial College London help people get to grips with their gadgets and tech. With the current situation, we're now adapting this into a telephone/ video-call befriending & tech support service.

Get matched with one of our friendly volunteers for weekly social calls, support with your gadgets and good company.

If you, or someone you know would like to be matched with one of our volunteers, please call Priya Pallan on 07566950968 or email whitecity.community@imperial.ac.uk
